On space and presence IV

Workshop with Michel Casanovas / France & India in Switzerland / Vallemaggia, Casa Lucciola

Michel Casanovas in le corps déporté

The sense of journey is always present in my work as well as the feeling of landscape.

During this workshop, bringing back the body in resonance with nature, as well as the inner body-mind exploration through the Feldenkrais approach, will support participants to discover a deeper dimension, where one feels at the same time stronger and more fragile, alone and unique as well as totally connected and related to the world, and from there, from this flow, the dance can happen, maybe...

About Michel Casanovas

His work, based on strong topics in human being condition, reveals a sensitive and creative approach of dance through specific movement research and improvisation.

Besides his artistic work and research, Michel's interests are in teaching dance and body-mind explorations in a functional and practical way, he is a certified practitioner in Feldenkrais Method since 2008.

Since 2006, he has been regularly teaching contemporary dance and Feldenkrais in India, working with young dancers, and non-dancers, in Bangalore, Bombay, Delhi and Calcutta.

„In my work as performer, I like to explore around the sense and the quality of the presence, while moving or not. At which point can we find a true expression of ourselves in the sense of a direct and pure, not diluted transmission, in our dance but also in our daily presence in the world?“

About Casa Lucciola

Michel
Casanovas

The Casa Lucciola is a charming Rustico on a sunny plateau, situated in the middle of a superb landscape in the lower Maggia Valley. The former farmhouse and a small but beautiful moving space welcome inspired people to a variety of activities: dance, music, meditation, walking, swimming, relaxing. The house is simple but comfortable. People sleep in a 4-bed-room and prepare the meals together in order to keep the costs low.
